Everyday Coding—This 52 page guide is an essential desk reference for coders, clinicians and managers.

It includes an E/M cheat sheet for office and inpatient services, detailed guidance about selecting the correct category and level of service, and information about preventive care. Learn the rules related to the global surgical package and modifiers needed in the global period. Three pages of frequently performed minor procedures in the guide list the wRVUs, total RVUs and global days.

This guide serves two purposes. It protects medical practice revenue and reduces compliance risk with its accurate coding guidance.

Everyday Dermatology Coding, 2020 - Everyday

Dermatology Coding is an in-depth coding resource for dermatology practices. It includes these topics:

- E/M quick coding reference
- 1997 single specialty exam
- E/M: history, exam, MDM
- Dermatology E/M frequency
- RVU and National payment values
- Shaving of Epidermal of Dermal Lesions
- 2020 biopsy codes
- Excision of benign and malignant lesions
- Destruction of malignant lesions
- Examples of multiple procedures
- Destruction of benign and pre-malignant lesions
- Mohs micrographic surgery
- E/M and surgical modifiers

Care Management Coding 2020

Remember when insurers only paid for face-to-face services? Now, CMS and private insurers recognize and reimburse medical practices for care management. The codes and related rules are not straightforward. This coding guide tells all about CCM, TCM, home health certification, non-face-to-face prolonged care, behavioral collaboration, remote monitoring, virtual communications, and remote monitoring.

Behavioral Health Coding 2020

This coding guide explains how to code for initial evaluations and re-evaluations, medication management, psychotherapy and other types of behavioral health services performed by physicians, NPs and PAs, psychologists, social workers and other licensed mental health professionals.
